

Company profile

ifp is one of the largest independent consultancies in the German-speaking world for the search, selection, assessment and development of middle and senior managers.

Our Executive Search division focuses on filling challenging management positions as well as supervisory and advisory board positions. We offer our consultancy services both in Germany and around the world. For eleven years in a row, ifp has been on the FOCUS list of top executive search service providers.

Our Management Diagnostics division offers a wide range of solutions for the assessment and development of managers and organisations. Our portfolio ranges from the design of individual and group assessments to the implementation of coaching sessions and the optimisation of personnel development tools.

When ifp was founded in the 1960s, we were the only personnel consultancy in Germany to work on a psychological basis. To this day, we have remained true to this visionary idea. Psychology is part of our DNA – just like our values, our clear convictions and the independence of our consultancy. They still form a solid foundation for our lively personal networks and the development of our company.
